BATTLE OF SERIES

M'Graw Picks Tesreau at Last Minute to Start in Game Against "Smoky" Joe

POLO GROUNDS, OCT. 8.—MANAGER McGRAW ANNOUNCED THAT TESREAU AND MEYERS WOULD BE THE GIANTS' BATTERY. MANAGER STAHL ANNOUNCED WOOD AND CADDY FOR THE RED SOX.

By L. R. Murdoch.

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 8.—The Boston delegation had a section reserved at the third base end of the horseshoe stand. They arrived at the Polo Grounds with their band at 12:30 o'clock, and a roar from the more than 25,000, who already packed the lower stand and nearly all the bleacher seats greeted them. A man in the third base side of the stand started an uproar by yelling for the Red Sox, and he was pelted with shredded newspapers for his enthusiasm.

GIANT SQUAD LOOKS SERIOUS.

The Red Sox players arrived about a half hour and the crowd outside gave them a cheer as they went to their clubhouse. The Sox took their time in the dressing room. Jake Stahl had intended taking his men out for batting practice this morning, but changed his mind and gave them a heart-to-heart talk instead.

The Giants came over from the Hotel Brookside after the Red Sox at 12:45. The Giants squad came into the field through the right field entrance, the twenty-two National League champions, led by McGraw, wearing maroon coats and all of walked solemnly to their dugout on the left.

There was not a smile in the crowd. A wail of cheer welcomed the Giants. They walked solemnly to their dugout on the first base side of the diamond, threw off their coats and began practice in a hurry. The automobile awarded to Crista Larry Doyle, the champion all-around player in the National League, walked onto the field stopped at the home plate and Doyle (Buck) Herzog and Ruben Markham jumped in. Vreelie was accompanied by Ben Hamilton Jr., chairman of the league commission, introduced Vreelie's chairman, Doyle, of the car, to Doyle, while the Giants circled around the group.

Chalmers congratulated Doyle on his triumph, the photographers "snapped" the bunch and then the Red Sox moved to the first base side. The Sox, led by Doyle, the first baseman, the Red Sox moved to the first base side. The Sox, led by Doyle, the first baseman, the Red Sox moved to the first base side.

Fair Wednesday, Says Forecaster

Local Forecaster Smith stepped up to the weather plate today and batted out the following forecast for Wednesday:

WEDNESDAY FAIR.

His official forecast, in full, was as follows:

"Fair tonight and Wednesday. Frost tonight. Moderate southwest and west winds."

Then Mr. Smith continued the way:

"Tomorrow will probably duplicate today's weather in Boston—cool, bright, and storm—perfect baseball weather."

At 8 a. m. today the Boston official temperature was 45 degrees above zero and warming up gradually. New York was four degrees warmer.

300 LAWRENCE STRIKERS BACK

LAWRENCE, Oct. 8.—About 300 of the 400 workers who struck at the Wood mill yesterday returned to work this morning.

The Italian workers of the city have voted to take part in the parade Saturday. A slight hitch occurred when the Italian asked that they be allowed to carry their national flag. They were informed that the regulations permitted of their carrying only the American flag, and everything but the flag, satisfactorily arranged.

Back to Vermont for Joe Chisholm: He Will Miss World Series

"Joe" Chisholm of North Pond, Vt., in Boston, but he doesn't want to see the world series now.

He wants to get back to North Pond before anybody steals his clothes. He has already been robbed of his money, railroad ticket and the tickets he had to the baseball games.

"I was brought here by Judge Fallon in South Boston District Court today on a charge of trespass. He had been found asleep on the Commonwealth dock. He was without hat, tie or collar."

"I came down from North Pond to see the world series," he said to Judge Fallon, "I got my tickets in the game and then ran into some fellows who robbed me. If I could get my money back, I'll tell you I'll be all right."

Judge Fallon smiled grimly and said: "I'll see the trespass charges against you and you go back home. The next time you want to see the world series you wait till the games are played in your home town."

ON GUARD FOR STOLEN TICKETS

The immediate arrest of every fan presenting one of the world's series tickets obtained through forgery and robbing the sale, it was intimated at the postoffice inspectors' department in the Federal Building, is very likely to take place at any time tomorrow.

No matter by whom these tickets are obtained, it is said that their speedy arrest will follow. This will assure the ownership of those who risked the mail of the ticket-exchange notice, and forced the names of the rightful owners.

HUB BOY RAN AWAY TO SEE OPENING GAME

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Fifteen-year-old William Doyle of No. 185 Chestnut street, Jamaica Plain, Mass., wanted to see the World's Series opener so much that he "beat" his way here successfully after being caught and started home. He had heard he could earn $9 a week and so that thought he was able to buy a ticket. He is now at the Children's Hospital Home and willing to return to Boston.

In the upper grandstand, but every seat is sold and within an hour they will be occupied. Just off the third base, is a special area. It is reserved for the Boy Scouts of Boston.

On the field there are none but a few ground officials and an aggregation of players.

Suddenly there is a mighty shout. It is the first world series ever played. Some of the world series ever played. Some of the world series ever played. Some of the world series ever played.

7 HURT IN SOUTH STATION

Seven passengers were slightly injured and many others shaken up at the South Station today when a Matapan boat crashed into the rear of a train that had just unloaded from Baitate. Passengers on the Matapan train were thrown to the floor of the cars and several who were alighting had narrow escapes.

The accident happened during the morning rush hour. Several hundred persons had just left the South Station. Through a misunderstanding the Matapan boat was switched onto the same track as the Baitate train.

The seven injured passengers were all on the Baitate train.

Richard W. Daily of the John Carter Paper Company, a passenger on the Matapan, said: "The impact was something terrible. I was in the second car of the train. I was lifted from my seat and then thrown back. Women continued to scream, and for a moment confusion reigned.

"There was a blinding sound of escaping steam. The train came to a sudden stop. Several persons had got up from their seats to see the door when the train arrived at the station."

According to the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad statement none of the injured were hurt seriously enough to require hospital treatment.

ST. VITUS' DANCE

"I have a son, Ray, who at the age of five years was scared by some boys. In about two weeks' time he broke down or gave away completely. He had to go to bed and the doctors said that he had St. Vitus' dance. During the entire night and for many nights he would lie awake and cry. He could not sleep at all, but would roll and toss all night long. His arms and head jerked and twitched and he became so nervous that he could not feed himself. He got so bad that he couldn't even speak. He had particularly bad spells, which came on about every three months. He was confined to bed for two months when he was first taken sick.

St Vit's" dance, nervous debility or nervous neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica, nervous headaches and nervous dyspnea are due to tired, weak, exhausted nerves. The correct treatment in each case is to build up and purify the blood, which alone can give the nerves nourishment. Unless you build up the blood, it is useless to try to reach the nerves with medicine or nourishment. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain the very elements which enable the blood to nourish the nerves until they become strong.

HERE'S A HINT IN $40,000 CONTEST

Many contestants write to know how soon the AMERICAN will begin to "print the standings."

They mean the score.

They want to know—to adopt the language of the baseball field—how much the other fellow is "batting for."

This is a timely hint to everybody entered in the race for the $40,000 offered to vote-givers by the Sunday AMERICAN.

Before the AMERICAN begins the publication of the standings, see to it that your vote will be inspiring to your friends and fellow baseball people. People dearly love to be a winner. Be sure that your standing in the first publication is such as to hold the enthusiasm of those who now support you.

A way has been pointed out by which you can secure and hold this enthusiasm.

MAY QUARANTINE BOSTON PRODUCE IN FIGHT ON MOTHS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Havages of the gray moth and the brown tail moth on growing trees, shrubs and grasses in the vicinity of Boston, will be the subject of a hearing before the Federal Horticultural Board at the Department of Agriculture October 30.

The hearing will decide whether there shall be a quarantine against the shipment of produce liable to carry the moths into other localities in the United States.

"The men who have promoted the combinations of capital and the wide understanding amongst those who are conducting the industry of this country," declared the Governor.

Make red hot contest, first, for the special cash prizes offered for the Sunday AMERICAN of this week. The first prize is $1,545 in cash as special prize for those who have the correct number for the period which began on Monday and will end November 18.

The second, $250, the third, $100 and the other prizes from the seventh to the one hundredth inclusive—five each.

Every one of these one hundred prizes is cash and is guaranteed.

These prizes are separate and apart from the grand prize of $10,000 in the contest for the first prize of the Sunday of the district first prizes of $1,000 each. They are offered to give diversions to the contest and to keep the excitement going along at their best possible speed. In other words, the contest is not over until the

"A POLISH WEDDING" PROVES CLEVER MIXTURE OF FARCE AND MUSIC

John and Harris Offer Production at Tremont Theatre That Shows Success.

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

Having toured most of Europe in musical comedy it was something of a novelty to take up Poland at the Tremont last evening. It was at least a new angle from which to view the musical side of the drama, and even if the action of the piece played for the most part upon trivialities the music was jarring and melodious.

"A Polish Wedding" did not lack behind a mask of operetta or make any false claims for itself. It was boldly proclaimed as farce with music, and the music had the best of it all the way. In this case from Jerome D. Kern—which doesn't sound very Polish—gave the members of the cast some material for their efforts. The score was light and airy, and was broken up into eleven numbers, several of which held the story together when things began to drop. Mr. Kern has nothing to regret.

The gratitude of a big first night audience went out to Messrs. Cohen and Harris for putting most of the ceremonies of the usual early played choruses. As if to show that it was not a matter of expense that kept this branch of musical comedy—or farce—out of the picture, a genuine group of untrained choruses were brought into the last five minutes of the evening.

They must just as well have been left on Broadway. The principals in the company displayed an early indication of being familiar with farceful situations and to music, and while the song numbers were devoid of the customary vocal ensemble no fears were held.

"A Polish Wedding" appeared to be something of a romantic mess—which gave it a fair start. The plot of the performance was devoid to the plotting of a dream wife for the return home of her husband, who was away from the country for a long time.

Miss Wilma Winter and Alder, who were joined in their task. Although they made head work of their respective moments, they managed to reach a happy solution before it was late. Miss Winter did not escape the attention of her audience who she blossomed into a blushing girl.

Music Is Attractive. William Horvath went back to first principles as comedian, and it was hard to tell whether he was Dutch, German or Jew. At any rate he was amusing. Miss Winter, who was married with a marriageable daughter, Miss Cynthia, was also a member to her audience.

One of the prettiest numbers in "A Polish Wedding" was "Let It Be a Little Boy," which was sung by Amy Truitt and Gertrude Bryan, two junior members of the cast.

White City book of "A Polish Wedding" was not all that might be desired. Mr. Kern's music struck an attentive note at the start and held it to the end.

Howard Athensum "The Lady Baccarat" dropped in at the old Howard yesterday for a week's visit. New vaudeville features arrived at the same time.

Waldron's Casino. Rose Spigel and her "London Belles" spread glad burlesque tidings all over the Casino at two performances yesterday.

Grand Opera House. "The Merry Widow" business played to two large audiences at the Grand Opera House yesterday.

Scenic Temple. New pictures and new vaudeville were added to the bill at the scenic Temple.

terday. The entertainment proved popular.

Loew's South End. "Cater's Last Fight," a motion picture in three reels, was the big feature of the new bill at the South End Theatre yesterday. There were other films and new (theatrical) songs.

Orpheum Theatre. With the arrival of Bill Sweeney in vaudeville it is easy to see that in that branch of popular entertainment the Boston Nationals are not tail-enders. Mr. Sweeney made his vaudeville debut at the Orpheum yesterday and was greeted by a big crowd of loyal friends. A dozen other acts made up the bill.

Globe Theatre. There was real vaudeville at the Globe Theatre—vaudeville that belonged in a higher priced house. Heading the bill in fact was Jack Adams, a vaudeville performer who had been in the business for many years.

Adams, who succeeded her late husband in this field of amusement, proved herself amply able to hold her own in the vaudeville ranks of Broadway. But few acts in vaudeville carry more weight than Adams, Hermann's. There were twelve other features on the bill that belonged emphatically to the "better" vaudeville class, as well as the usual run of new pictures and smart songs.

National Theatre. The new show at the National Theatre yesterday was followed by two entertainers whose efforts in Boston have been well received. John C. Row and Betty Cohen are old friends to followers of vaudeville and in keeping with the program at the National Theatre that gave them a big audience, their sketch, "The Path of the Pioneer," was a happy one.

Other attractive acts were on the bill were supplied by Mrs. George A. Hubbard, a vaudeville singer, and Gillette's animals.

Hub Theatre. There was a complete change of bill at the Hub Theatre yesterday. New vaudeville and pictures were shown.

Huntington Avenue Theatre. The picture and song program at the Huntington Avenue Theatre was enjoyed by large audiences yesterday.

Shows That Remain. "Little Hood" is now on its second week at the Boston Theatre. "The Quaker Girl" has entered upon its third week at the Colonial.

"The Talker" began its final week at the Boston Theatre yesterday. "The Quaker Girl" has entered upon its third week at the Colonial.

Gaiety Theatre.

Ma Williams established herself with burlesque patrons at the Gaiety Theatre yesterday, where she gave two performances with her "father" show. Miss Williams is an entertainer with a lively sense of humor, which her audience eagerly grasped. Burlesque is familiar diversion in many respects, but Miss Williams' company had new things to show and new songs to sing. Not a little of yesterday's enjoyment at the Gaiety was supplied by the score of laughing young women who made up the chorus.

New Palace Theatre. There is always something new at the program at the New Palace Theatre, and this week's program will find "Other Side" the big feature of the bill. This is an imported motion picture story or rather melodrama—showing life in Paris in native-lazy world colors. "Other Side" is a big film, one of the longest ever made, and every scene is filled with dramatic interest. Those who like the melodrama that is full of gripping will find "Other Side" an absolute entertainment. The new picture will include several new social pictures and a new lot of illustrated songs.

Next Week's Bills.

"Coming Home to Rest" will be the attraction at the Thalia next week. George Arliss in "Dorothy" will move into the Plymouth next Monday.

"The Little Queen" will be the attraction at the Cattle Square next week. "On the Level," a new play, will be the next offering at the St. James Theatre.

Alaska Pictures. Enthusiastic approval was accorded the Carnegie Museum Alaska-Siberia motion picture at their presentation at Jordan Hall yesterday afternoon and evening. There were many thrilling and spectacular scenes in the movie star big game in which it is said in a short time.

Wolf's "My Clothier" Always Leads—Never Misleads.

Here is an Affidavit That Speaks Good and Loud—Be Sure to Read It.

Wolf's "My Clothier," Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir: On May 28th, 1912, we received an order for Fall and Winter Suits from Hackett, Carhart & Co., Inc., Retail, for their four stores situated in the City of New York.

We have turned over to you the letter accompanying the order signed per M. A. Weiss. Mr. Weiss, being in charge of all orders placed. We placed orders for woolsens with the American Woolen Co., Wanskuck Co., Cleveland Mills, Herbert Lawton and other mills. The Garments were in process of manufacture; when a meeting of the Creditors of Hackett, Carhart & Co., Inc., Retail, was called on account of their financial difficulty. We, therefore, found ourselves with the goods on hand which we did not care to sell in small lots.

We decided to correspond with some of the largest retail clothiers whom we knew would pay cash for the merchandise if interested, and we were willing to sell them at a much lower price than they had been sold to Hackett, Carhart & Co., Inc., Retail, so that we would not be caught when the season advanced with a larger number of suits on hand than business prudence and safety would warrant.

Mr. Bernard M. Wolf, of Wolf's "My Clothier," and your Clothing Buyer, Mr. George T. Hutchinson, happened in when we were considering whom we would approach.

The matter was presented to them, the sample styles were shown, low prices surely made and the deal consummated. Most of the suits have been delivered and paid for by you.

The suits are made from new up-to-date woolsens that were ordered for this Fall and Winter trade. All garments were made up, per special instructions of Hackett, Carhart & Co., Inc., Retail, and positively no old merchandise was among the lot.

As every statement in this letter is correct we attach an affidavit hereto.

Yours very truly,
TOBIAS, GREENTHAL and MENDELSON.

the Wish of the Uraline Sisters of Waterville, Me., in Indorsing Father John's Medicine for the Cure of Consumption

"We, the undersigned, cheerfully commend and endorse the use of Father John's Medicine as a sure and immediate relief for all colds, throat troubles, hoarseness, and all other ailments of the throat and lungs. We have used it in success for one of the members of our institution who was threatened with consumption of the throat. One of the many cures by Father John's Medicine, we made a trial and we glad to state that after taking one bottle, a decided change took place, the patient having recovered her voice, which had been impaired for nearly two years. Would that every family knew its value." (Signed) Uraline Sisters, Uraline Convent, Waterville, Me.

Remember Father John's Medicine is free from opium, morphine or poisonous drugs in the so-called cough cures. It is safe for the youngest child and which, are dangerous—we again warn you against them. Not a patent medicine. Fifty years in use.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NEWS BRIEFS

The preliminary figures of the report Boston Elevated for the year ending June 30 showed 3.54 per cent. earned on the $10,000,000 capital stock, against 4.77 per cent. for the previous year. The strike, which took place on the company's lines at the close of the year was an expensive one. Gross earnings for the year were $1,500,000, an increase of $200,000, but the increased expense incident to the strike raised the operating ratio from 66.7 per cent. in 1911 to 68 per cent. in 1912. Total expenses were $1,075,000, an increase of $257,500. This left net earnings of $425,000, a decrease of $250,000, or more than 10 per cent. Charges increased $100,000, making the surplus for dividends $300,000 against $1,500,000 last year, a decrease of $640,000 or nearly 5 per cent.

John Burnham & Co., says California Petroleum has made a remarkable record in the advance in its common stock. Many of the most conservative banking houses of the country were represented in the underwriting syndicate. One-half of the issue was placed in Portland, Amsterdam and London, practically all of the balance being placed by private subscription. The common advanced from 50 to 60 on the day it was offered.

Thompson, Towle & Company say: With the payment of the dividend as the incentive, Franklin will be able to pay off its debt and start on a productive career, for its heavy equipment and development expense is largely behind it, and the mine at the present time is more than meeting its expenses. It has in R. M. Edwards, an experienced, honest and true experienced end of the highest possible integrity.

Taine Webster & Co.—Continued to be the principal buyers of North British. The established proportion of refined copper of Calumet & Hecla for September totaled 10,237,071 pounds compared with 10,300,000 pounds in August, 1912-1913, and 10,500,232 in September, a year ago.

Steps are under way for a consolidation of the State National Bank with the Merchants National Bank, and the indication now is that the merger will take place almost immediately. The plan is to have the State National Bank liquidated.

Governor Wilson on Trade
Expansion

It is said that two-thirds of the half-thousand business men who heard Governor Wilson's speech before the Omaha Commercial Club last Saturday came to protest, but remained to applaud. The speaker converted the mass of his Republican hearers into enthusiastic champions of trade expansion, through commercial reciprocity, and the revival of the American merchant marine.

There ran through Governor Wilson's Omaha speech the thrill of that prophecy which was voiced so memorably by President McKinley in his admonition to the American people on the day of his assassination.

Mr. McKinley said at Buffalo on that September day, 1901: "We have a vast and intricate business, built up through years of toil and struggle, in which every part of the country has had its stake—which will not permit either of neglect or of undue selfishness. No narrow, selfish policy will subvert it. The greatest skill and wisdom on the part of the manufacturers and producers will be required to hold and increase it."

"Our capacity to produce has developed so enormously and our products have so multiplied, that the problem of more markets requires our urgent and immediate attention. Only a broad and enlightened policy will keep what we have. No other policy will get more."

"We must not repose in fancied security on the assumption that we can forever sell everything and buy little or nothing."

"THE PERIOD OF EXCLUSIVENESS IS PAST. THE EXPANSION OF OUR TRADE AND COMMERCE IS THE PRESSING PROBLEM. Commercial wars are unprofitable. A policy of good will and friendly trade relations will prevent reprisals. Reciprocity treaties are in harmony with the spirit of the times; measures of retaliation are not."

"We must encourage our merchant marine. WE MUST HAVE MORE SHIPS. THEY MUST BE UNDER THE AMERICAN FLAG—BUILT AND MANNED AND OWNED BY AMERICANS."

There is no sentence of this unforgettable farewell deliverance of a great Republican President that was not paralleled by the Democratic Presidential candidate at Omaha on Saturday.

But Mr. McKinley did not have his party behind him.

There is no doubt, on the other hand, that Governor Wilson speaks, not only for a united Democracy, but also for that new and improved commercial intelligence of the country which broke into resplendent Republican cheers at Omaha, and which is above all party names.

The Murder of Jack Zelig—Blackmail and Assassination Organized Under Mr. Gaynor's City Government

What Do the People Think of These Repeated Murders? And What Do They Think of Mr. Gaynor, Head of an Administration Under Which Blackmail and Murder Flourish for the First Time in New York City?

Copyright, 1912, by American Journal Company

The police heads in New York were making millions in blackmail. They blackmailed gamblers, disorderly house keepers, all law breakers.

For a certain sum the laws could be broken. Failure to pay the sum demanded caused arrest and police persecution of those that would not pay.

You know the story of Rosenthal and his murder. Rosenthal got tired of being blackmailed and died. He complained, went to the District Attorney's office, denounced a man on the police force named Becker.

Shortly afterward he was murdered in the public street. Becker's friends were concerned in the matter, and numerous witnesses have testified that Becker ordered the murder.

The Mayor of the city, Mr. Gaynor, expressed his confidence in Becker, and gave orders that that gentleman should not be removed from his position on the police force.

He WAS removed, however—he is now in jail—unless his friends succeed in murdering all the witnesses he will get what he deserves.

The murder of Jack Zelig indicates that the organization of crime and bribery that thrives in New York under Mr. Gaynor's administration has not reached the limit of its accomplishments.

Jack Zelig was one of the most important witnesses for the State against the murderers of Rosenthal.

Jack Zelig was a man who could, and who had said that he WOULD, tell about the murder of one who had refused the blackmail tribute.

A number of the other witnesses subpoenaed by the State to give evidence as the shocking crime had expressed fear that they would not live to tell what they knew.

Their fears were justified, as everybody knows today.

Jack Zelig, the principal witness, the man who in a few days would have been on the stand describing the combination of blackmail and murder that distinguishes New York City, was shot dead in the public street.

What do the people of New York think of the system of crime,

Be Sure You Are Off with the Old Love

extortion and murder carried on as agencies for revenue is a great city department under Mr. Gaynor's administration!

What do the people think of MR. GAYNOR and of the police force of which he is the head?

How many more witnesses summoned by the State are to be murdered before they reach the witness stand?

It is not time to put an end to the murder system in New York City!

No one doubts that Rosenthal was murdered by order of New York police officials because he had told the truth about those officials.

Does anybody doubt that Jack Zelig was murdered by order of New York police officials because he was about to tell how and why Rosenthal was killed?

What will Mr. Gaynor have to say about this latest of the murders that distinguish his administration?

Will he speak in defense of this murderer as he protected Becker, who, as testified to by many witnesses, ordered the murder of Rosenthal?

Will he declare that this murder also is more or less imaginary, and that the whole trouble is with those that "defame the fair name of New York City?"

Was ever a city so thoroughly disgraced as New York City is disgraced by the police, with murders and blackmail thoroughly organized, and by Gaynor, the incompetent, under whose administration the system of crime has grown!

Work at Home Brings

Special Announcement to Women
Who Earn Money at Home

One Dollar will be paid for every letter contributed by Boston AMERICAN readers, and used in the AMERICAN, containing ideas helpful to those WOMEN WHO WISH TO EARN MONEY AT HOME. This department is organized to help women help themselves. It will suggest opportunities for money-making and will help those who wish to develop the ideas they are now giving in their homes for increasing their incomes. Won't you please tell me what you are doing and why you are doing it, so that we may be of service to some woman who is struggling in the dark and who needs our help? Address MABEL BARCLAY URY, Boston AMERICAN.

This Department Will Appear in the Daily and Sunday AMERICAN

By MABEL BARCLAY URY

DON'T pity the poor, says someone, of the ways in which women earn money at home; they have their work. And that is more than a bright saying. It contains truth—more truth than the poor can realize.

Let me tell you about a Brooklyn girl who seemed to have everything she needed for happiness. On Sundays and other times during the week she played golf at the Irish-born Club, she has an automobile, a fine home in which to live and entertain her friends, all the clothes she wanted, and if you had watched her you would have said that she lacked nothing. But she became acquainted with a man whose eyes saw beyond the veneered shell. "You are not happy," he said; "The truth is you are miserable, you are hungry for something all the time."

The girl denied the charge. She told of all the blessings she enjoyed. But the man held his ground and compelled her to confess. "I am miserable," she sadly admitted—"More miserable than even you can understand. I don't know what is the matter with me. I have asked myself time and time again what is wrong, but I've never been able to put my finger on it. Tell me, if you can, what is the matter with me?"

It was an easy question to answer. The girl was suffering from self-depression. She was not using her faculties. "Tell me," asked the man, "if you could do exactly what you want to do, what work would you take up?"

"If I were not what I am I would become a music teacher. I love to teach music to children."

"Why don't you do it?"

"Why, I couldn't. I don't have to earn money, you know. What would my family and my friends say?"

You can do that, and what's more, you've got your own life to live. You've got to earn your own happiness. No one else can do it for you. And you've got to see the truth: that complete happiness can be yours only when you express yourself fully.

Let me make a game of this. Imagine that you have lost your beans and your friends and that you've got to earn your own living. You start off with a rather good educational education and you have friends whose children you can secure as pupils.

Let us make a list of all these children. Decide how many hours you wish to give to the work each week, how much money you think you need to pay your expenses as a pupil, and how much you can charge for each lesson.

To sum it all up this man helped the girl plan her business, gave her business advice, built up her business, so that she felt able to carry out her plan, and then didn't see her for more than a year.

Not long ago he met her on the street and she was radiant. She came up to him and with a scolding she handed him an engraved business card which proceeded her to be a great teacher with regular five hours and all the rest of the business-lessons.

"You saved my life," she said happily. "I was stagnating. I was dying, and I didn't know it. You showed me that woman to express myself in a few words and I wanted to tell you that I NEVER KNEW SUCH HAPPINESS BEFORE. I AM NOT ONLY TEACHING MOST OF THE DAY, BUT I AM TAKING SPECIAL LESSONS MYSELF. IT IS GLORIOUS TO GROW, ISN'T IT? AND, SHE ADDED, 'I'M EARNING MORE MONEY THAN I REALLY NEED TO SUPPORT MYSELF COMFORTABLY.'

Yes, "GOD HELP THE RICH—THE POOR CAN WORK." And here, let me forget, are some Summer and Winter.

My experience may help some one. My home is on a farm, which is situated miles from the city and three from the village, have three children and have only the afternoon to spare to earn money. In the summer time I pick berries and sell them, so much a basket or by the crate. In the winter I go to the woods a month or more before the holidays and pull evergreen, which I put down cellar and display in the parlor, then make up wreaths and nothings. I also use laurel in the same way. It is hard work, but I am so far away that I have no other choice.

Embroidering Baby Clothes.

Being very fond of embroidery, I embroidered baby clothes for my friends, who send me other customers. It doesn't take much of my time as the others are not very big. Little caps I give up dollar and a half, dresses, two dollars up. If I do a number of pieces for one person I make a discount in the price. I am more than thankful to have this opportunity given me, as money is not very thing to be secured at nowadays, and it is a very agreeable occupation.

Embroidery Lessons.

Wishing to earn a little extra money at home, and being handy with the needle, I decided to give embroidery lessons. I charged twenty-five cents a lesson, and my pupils have their choice of whatever they wish to make.

As my friends always admired my needlework, this gave me another idea. Now I make all kinds of needlework with scraps of lawn, lace and embroidery and these my friends are very anxious to get.

So with that and my lessons, I am kept pretty busy, and earn quite a little sum of pin money.

Pin Cushion Etc.

Upon upholsterer's scraps, such as tapestry and velvet, a woman of my acquaintance makes pin cushions, handbags and hand-rests for chairs, which find a ready sale around the Christmas season.

She makes other periodical visits to the local upholstering worksheds, where she is always able to secure, gratis, cuttings which are useless except for the purposes I have mentioned.

The pin cushions are cut about nine inches square, with a slight curve between the four corners. When sewed and stuffed with sawdust the cushion takes the form of a four-cornered star and has a very pretty effect.

Stitch on inside, then turn out and stitch round the outside, about one-quarter of an inch from the edge. This gives the appearance of a cord.

The handbags are made in various shapes and have a cord running through corresponding of a contrasting color. They are closed at the top by means of a cord running through small slits fixed on the inside.

BOSTON YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION,
No. 2 Ashburton Place.

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—I desire personally, and on behalf of the Board of Directors of this Association, to thank you very heartily for your generous notices of our cornerstone laying by President Taft.

The programme was carried through very successfully, and the publicity given to the event by the press was of great value.

Yours very sincerely,
GEORGE W. MEHAFFEY,
General Secretary.
